

Life Care Plan

There is no easy route through life when a catastrophic, disabling injury or illness robs us of our everyday routines and normal lifestyle patterns. And the costs and stress on family and friends can't just be ignored. VoCare Services has developed a Life Care Planning capability that is unrivaled for its thoroughness and accuracy in assessing future costs and the extent of future health care needs when a disabling injury occurs.

Most important, our Life Care Planning centers on attaining the maximum level of independence possible while providing the quality, cost effective health care appropriate to each individual case.

A VoCare Life Care Plan is a dynamic document that provides an organized plan for current and future needs for individuals who have experienced catastrophic injury or have chronic health care needs. It's a precise and detailed outline of the care, equipment and services and the accompanying costs to out the plan. It includes an analysis of the medical, psychosocial, educational, equipment, housing, vocational and caregiver needs and the costs required implementing them.

A Life Care Plan often serves as a critical element in an insurance company's determination of the overall long-term costs required to care for a severely injured individual. Attorneys use our Life Care Plans to make critical judgments relating to the specific health care and financial requirements of an injured individual's long-term rehabilitation and care program to clearly communicate the exact nature of the care equipment and services that will be necessary and the costs that will be incurred to all interested parties, including, arbitration panel participants and jury members. Families use our Life Care Plans as a road map to anticipate future care needs and how to respond to them.

We ask all the important questions and make certain that we've got all the correct answers before we develop the Plan. How is one's ability to live independently been affected? What's the impact on a student's ability to continue his or her education? How normal a life can the injured party expect to lead? What are the rehabilitation requirements? Are structural changes going to have to be made in the injured party's housing? What about equipment costs?

VoCare's Life Care Planners are rehabilitation professionals who are experts in dealing with the broad spectrum of factors that affect the post-injury treatment of a severely disabled individual from rehabilitation to home care to government policies. Our Life Care Planning team involves Rehabilitation Counselors, nurses, physicians, vocational experts, equipment providers, and other appropriate health care professionals experienced and skilled in assessing both short and long-term impacts of a disabling injury.

A Life Care Plan is based on our knowledge and experience, careful analysis and meticulous research to outline what you can expect in terms of the long-term care requirements and costs associated with a severe or catastrophic injury.
